

Queen-Like Fashion Reigns Supreme With Dignity and Refinement at Rosenwald's Authentic, Exclusive, Distinctive, Our Modes in Women's Garments

Preening peacocks never took more pride in the beauty of their feathers than we do in this exceptional display. The models in coats, suits and dresses that we are now showing merit the attention of every discriminating woman.

Cherishing a reputation of years' standing for exclusiveness and authenticity of mode, we sincerely believe that our offering will meet the approval of the most exacting woman for style, workmanship and quality.

Autumn Coats

Dresses returning to favor in fashion circles have made top-coats a necessity. We are showing a most charming variety from general utility coats to individual creations. Illustrated are some of the reasons why this is a coat season—aside from the dress question.

Finer Suits for Women

One-of-a-kind suits, including copies of latest importations. Unassuming tailored styles and dashing fur-trimmed modes. Duvetyn, Velour de Laine, Broadcloth, Velvet.

Costumes for Every Occasion

For street—for afternoon—for the card parties. Simplicity is everywhere—an old-fashioned air of pretty femininity distinguishes the fitted waists and full hips.

Autumn Millinery

Whether Paradise or Goura or Ostrich or Fur or other ornament be used, hats this season are of a wholesome simplicity, unachieved in any past season without sacrifice of real style.

There is a proper balance of simple style and lavish trimming this autumn that gives an added touch of exclusiveness to the showing by this store. Originals and adaptations from the modes of New York's smartest milliners await the critical eye of women who dress fashionably. Prices begin at $15 and range upwards.

Lesser price autumn hats, tastefully trimmed with silver and gold colored ornaments, jet, fancy beads and in other attractive ways at $5.95 to $15.00.

Exquisite Georgette Blouses

Charming—alluringly soft and dainty—so utterly feminine are the blouses of this season.

Georgette holds the place of honor.

Beautiful new waists command attention.

Delicate laces, too, play their part.

Exclusive models—only one of each—yet many of beauty await you here.

The lovely blouses described you may see now in our windows.

One model effectively headed in Oriental designs and colors. Another with braided effect is smartly tailored.

One hand embroidered in self colors is combined with cut steel beads.

A net blouse shown has deep collar hand-embroidered with real Venise medallions.

Some wonderful lace blouses in black over white or flesh color linings.

GRAND LODGE OF PYTHIANS TO NAME OFFICERS TODAY

Unexpected Vacancy Occurs in Lower Office; Character and Success of Annual Banquet Is Subject of Much Comment.

Routine business marked the meeting of the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias today for the most part, but the matter-of-fact character of the session was relieved by addressed by Supreme Vice Chancellor Charles Davis, of Denver, and Lloyd King, of Denver, head of the insurance department of the order in the west.

Election of officers will not be reached until late this afternoon. An unexpected vacancy in a lower office promises a possible contest, but for the rest the election is likely to be without undue suspense, one of the chief topics of conversation among the Knights today was the character and success of the banquet last night.

Supreme Representative Hugh Wiltiams, of Deming Lodge, and Supreme Representative W. V. Berger, of Mineral Lodge, this city, gave their reports at yesterday's session. It was accepted with a rising vote of thanks.

Besides Grand Chancellor Berndtson the following grand lodge officers were present at the meetings: Grand Vice President T. J. Kinney, of Dawson; Grand Prelate Charles Gunton of Dallas; Grand Keeper of Record and Seal, J. E. Elder, of Albuquerque; Grand Master at Arms, L. V. Medier of Magdalene; Grand Inner Guard, J. M. Rose, of Roswell; Grand Outer Guard, George Ingwall, of Carrizozo.

Odd Fellows Finish Work and Adjourn

The adoption of a new constitution for the Grand Lodge of the I. O. O. F. and also for the subordinate lodges was the principal work done at today's session. The various committees reported on the condition of the order and pronounced it in the best condition of any year during the history of the order.

A systematic bookkeeping rule was adopted for all the lodges of the state. At the meeting this afternoon, the newly appointed officers were installed after which the Odd Fellows adjourned until 1917, at which time the grand lodge will meet in Albuquerque during fair week.
